

If they must air an anti Kerry show then they should have to air an anti Bush show right before or after the other. What happened to equal time in commercial television?